KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Cortez S. Martin
Director of Engineering
UPS – Ohio Valle y District

Cortez S. Martin has a B.S. in industrial engineering from the Milwaukee School of Engineering and a MBA from the National Louis University in Chicago.

Cortez is currently the Ohio Valley Director of Engineering at UPS, the Ohio Valley District is comprised of Indiana, Kentucky, the Southwest portion of Ohio and the Southeast portion of Illinois. He is responsible for the Industrial Engineering Department which leads the district in forecasting and efficiency modeling, building facilities planning, holiday operating plans and deploying the On Road Integrated Optimization and Navigation System-ORION. Cortez also works to reduce service failures across the enterprise. During his career he has developed experience in operations excellence, package delivery and transportation coordination.

Cortez is a long term member of the National Society of Black Engineers. He has been a member of NSBE for 21 years and was an advisor for the 39th Annual Convention here in Indianapolis in 2013. His passion for mentoring has allowed him to be a role model to aspiring engineering students and continues to be instrumental in professional development of others.

Minority Engineering Program of Indianapolis (MEPI) is a non profit organization that encourages and prepares underrepresented minority students to enter Science, Technology, Engineering, & Math (STEM) related career fields. The students will be equipped with the skills to succeed in today's high tech world and it will help to enhance the workforce of their community. For additional Information visit: www.mepi.org
